BRYAN'S DOUBLE TAKES STICK IN IT

Commoner's Dead Ringer in Los Angeles in Marine Business, Gubling Schooners Over Bar; Nix on Grape Juice.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 2.—"Hello, Bill Bryan," yelled a friend to George Peterson yesterday.

Those who heard turned to look. They were surprised. But for his rotundity, Peterson might step upon some country Chautauqua platform and astonish the natives as William Jennings Bryan, who does so when he finds it essential to add to the more, instance granted him by the prominent for holding down the job of secretary of state.

Peterson's vocation is the opposite of Bryan's avocation in things liquid. The local double of the free silver advocate is in the marine business, guiding schooners under the Franklin street bar. His ideas do not exactly coincide with those of Bryan as to the potency of grape juice, at least in its unfermented form.

"Grape juice is the finest drink in the world when properly prepared," said Peterson, "but not the kind that I think best would make an orator out of any man, to say nothing of exhorting around the streets when I hit a new town, particularly when I arrived where Bryan was due."

Peterson has been in Los Angeles for some time past and nearly every attorney, county official, judge and anyone who has frequent county business and a thirst has met him. He dispenses hospitality at the back entrance of the hall of records and naturally is very popular.

While President Wilson has his double in a Los Angeles barber, Bryan can point with pleasure, should he find it out, that he has a double in a saloon manager, going his superior one better.

Canning

Some Suggestions.

By JEAN HUBBS

Oil of cinnamon and oil of cloves may be used instead of the ground spices to make sweet pickles and catsup retain their color. The oil should be insisted upon or an essence may be added to you.

To fill jars with fruit. Sterilized jars are filled with fruit, and enough syrup added to overflow the jars. If there is not sufficient syrup, add boiling water as jars must be filled to overflowing. Introduce a spoon between the fruit and the jar, that air bubbles may rise to the top and break; then quickly screw on sterilized covers. Let stand until cold, again screw covers, being sure this time that jars are air-tight. While filling jars, place them on a cloth wrung out of hot water.

Failure in jelly making may be traced to the use of too ripe fruit.

There is no better way to keep jelly than to pour melted paraffine on top after the jelly has hardened, then adjust the covers.

It is said that a little beet juice added to quince jelly gives it a delightful color and does not affect the flavor of the jelly.

A small sprig of mint placed in a jar of glass just before pouring in crab-apple jelly gives a delightful flavor to the jelly.

Rubbers should be dipped in hot water for a few seconds before using.

Care must be taken that the rims of the covers are not bent, as jars cannot then be hermetically sealed.

Jars should be sealed with hot soda before filling.

A jelly bag may be made quickly with a double thickness of cheese cloth and loops of tape sewed on the top in such a way that it may be hung over a broom handle or a cane.

Mrs. Rover's Rules for Canning Vegetables.

All vegetables, to be perfect, must be canned the day they are picked.

They must be ripe and free from decay.

They must be cooked in the cans or jars in which they are to be kept.

Cans or jars, lids and rubbers must be perfect.

Use new rubbers each year, or you may save a quarter at the expense of many dollars.

Use solid tops—that is, tops which have no lining, glass or metal.

The water in the boiler must boil, not simmer, and the time be counted from the first boil.

The lids and rubbers must not be handled after the first boiling is finished.

The contents of every jar must be sterile (dead). One germ of mould or yeast on the lid or rubber, or in the jar, will spoil the entire contents. There is no reason why vegetables

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work.

The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Two Shot While Hunting.

Globe, Ark., Aug. 9.—Governor Hunt's nephew, Glenn Ellison, and Edward Rose, a nine-year-old boy, were the victims of two hunting accidents here today.

Ellison shot himself through the thigh while trying to draw a large caliber revolver from a holster. Young Rose was hit by a 22 caliber bullet fired by Marion Sawyer, also aged nine, who was shooting at a dove.

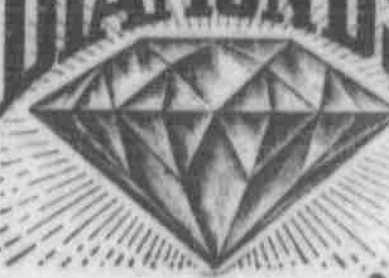

Rose was behind a bush and the bullet entered his head. He may recover. Ellison also stands a good chance to recover unless septicemia sets in.

Notice to Parents and Guardians.

You are hereby notified that the law requires (Sec. 19 and 20, Chapter CIII, School Laws, 1909) that all school children should be vaccinated against smallpox, and makes it unlawful for any child to be admitted to a public school unless such pupil has been properly vaccinated.

It is my duty as county superintendent to see that the provisions of
